BIG DAMAGES ASKED

Mr. Thomas A. Nevins Sues Paducahans for $54,000.

Is the Purchaser of the Paducah Coal and Mining Company's Property.

SUIT FILED IN FEDERAL COURT

One of the largest suits ever instituted in Paducah was filed in federal court here last evening by Attorneys Wheeler and Hughes of the city for Thomas A. Nevins of New Jersey, one of the new owners of the Paducah Coal and Mining Co., against the following: George Rock, W. F. Paxton, T. J. Flournoy, Ed. Woolfolk, George O. Wallace and Mrs. May Wallace, Paducah, and Isaac Reese and Mrs. Lulu Reese of Memphis. The amount asked for in the petition is $54,000 damages.

The plaintiff recites that he is a resident of the state of New Jersey, and that March 31, 1902, he purchased the properties of the Paducah Coal and Mining Co., which belonged to the above defendants.

This property, he alleges, was represented to him to contain 3,400 acres of coal lands in Crittenden and Union counties, 300 acres in fee simple, a standard gauge railroad from the mines near Sturgis to the tipples on the Ohio river, in Union County, two locomotives and about forty coal cars, two river tipples, one on the Ohio and one on the Tradewater river, a coal elevator, furniture and appurtenances, thirty barges and two steamboats, all in good condition; one tug, one pump boat, a large quantity of coal out of ground and ready for market, and other things.

The plaintiff avers that he accepted these statements as true and on the representations made to him paid a valuable consideration for the property of the defendants, but that only 2,900 acres of land sold to him and paid for by him is included in the property. He has made demand for the remaining 500 acres of coal lands, he claims, and they have not been deeded him, and he accordingly sues for $50,000 for the 500 acres of land constituting the alleged shortage.

He claims further that one of the boats sold as being in good condition was not and that $3,000 had to be spent on it before it could be used, and sues for this amount also, $3,000. He claims that the quantity of coal out of ground and marketable was not turned over to him, and sues for $1,000 damages for the loss of that, asking for a total of $54,000.

Mr. Nevins is well known in Paducah, and the towboat Thomas A. Nevins was named after him. He is now up in Crittenden and Union counties on business.

The defendants do not seem to feel any uneasiness over the suit. It is understood that the property was sold to Mr. Nevins after his legal representative had examined all the deeds, papers and other documents, and that no deeds were made to anyone, the company's stock simply being sold to Mr. Nevins. It is understood it will be claimed that the boat alleged to have been in bad repair was in good repair, had been repaired only a short time before and running regularly.

The suit comes up before Judge Walter Evans in November.

SENT TO POOR FARM—Mrs. Martha Morris and Mrs. Annie Meyers, of the northern part of the city were sent to the county poor farm yesterday afternoon.

DRAGGED A BLOCK

Mr. L. Newhouse Badly, if Not Fatally Hurt Today.

Colored Bicycle Frightens Horse—May Be Broken in Victim.

CAR HITS COUNTRY WAGON

Mr. L. Newhouse, traveling representative of a Chicago concern which manufactures a fine extinguishing powder, was badly injured in a runaway this morning about 11:30 o'clock near Eight and Boyd streets while riding over the city advertising his goods.

Mr. Newhouse was riding in a rig furnished by the Farmer Transfer Co., with Tin Enos, colored, driver, and at Eighth and Boyd streets a negro bicyclist attempted to cross in front of the horse and slipped to the ground under the animal's feet. The bicyclist had a basket on his arm and in falling struck the horse, which wheeled around and turned the buggy over, throwing both driver and occupant out. A Newhouse alighted under the wheels and the driver fell just outside and escaped serious injury.

The horse reared at a frightful gallop for a square, dragging the unfortunate drummer all that distance. After having run for fully a block the he collided with a telephone pole and stopped.

Drs. J. Robertson and Adrian Hoyer were summoned and after making a hasty examination removed the patient in ambulance to the Lag-mans hotel, where he is stopping. After a more careful examination the injuries were found to be even more serious than at first supposed. The left leg was crushed and broken in several places below the knee, and the physicians placed a temporary dressing on the limb until it repairs sufficiently to enable them to place a permanent dressing in place.

Mr. Newhouse's face was also badly injured, the drummer having been dragged on his face. His nose is broken and the left side of the face badly cut and bruised.

Drs. Robertson and Hoyer think Mr. Newhouse will recover, but say it will require much time, as his injuries are very serious. He has been here a few days only, having Wednesday made a test of his fire extinguisher at Second and Broadway. His firm will be notified of the accident this afternoon by telegraph, but Mr. Newhouse will likely not be removed for several days yet.

At noon today Mrs. D. N. Futrell and Mrs. Jane Howard, two ladies of the county who had been to market with vegetables, were painfully injured in an accident at Fourth and Jefferson streets. They were going north and car 59, Motorman Froese, was going south. The motorman claims he did not think they were going to try to cross the track, and the ladies informed a reporter that they didn't see the car until it was too late. When they turned and started across the track the motorman attempted to stop the car, but it was too late.

The light spring wagon was struck with such violence that the two ladies were thrown out. Mrs. Howard hit the right side of her head painfully and her hand badly skinned, but the other lady's injuries were not so painful. Both, however, were painfully bruised and shaken up, and were cared for at a house at Fourth and Jefferson. The wagon was not damaged much and the horse was not hurt.

W. L. Ledford, who was injured in a street car accident several nights ago, was removed yesterday afternoon at 6:05 o'clock to Roaring Springs, Ky., where his family resides. He has never entirely regained his right mind, but talks rationally on most subjects. He cannot tell how he got hurt, however, and his mind is a blank from the time he got on the car at First and Broadway until he became conscious.

KILLED IN THE FIELD

Christian County Farmers Have Trouble and One Shot.

General Cassius Clay Is Crazy, Not Sick—Miners Strike at Wheatcroft, Ky.

LOUISVILLE PEOPLE TOASTED

FARMER KILLED IN CHRISTIAN Hopkinsville, July 3.—James Grant shot and killed Harrison Hamby in the field this morning. The men were farmers in the Sinking Fork neighborhood. Hamby was plowing when Grant appeared with a shotgun and accused him of talking about his daughters in a disparaging way.

Grant repeated what he had heard Hamby said, and asked if he said it. Grant's story is that Hamby laughed and said, "Yes I said it." These were his last words. Grant shot him dead in his tracks, the load entering his breast at short range. No other witnesses have yet appeared, and the version given is as Grant himself tells it.

GENERAL CLAY INSANE.

Lexington, July 3.—General Cassius M. Clay, is believed to be hopelessly insane at White Hall, in Madison county. Drs. Bullerok, of Louisville, and W. O. Bullerok, of this city, were sent to White Hall at the request of Clay, who stated that he needed medical attention, but they were not permitted to enter the mansion after they got there.

Almost Unnerved Me

Short of Breath,
Faint and Languid.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and Nervine Cured Me.

"It has been five years since I was cured of heart trouble by your Heart Cure and Nervine, and I am just as sound as a dollar in that organ today. For several years I had been suffering with my heart. Breathing had become short and difficult at times, sharp pains about the heart, sometimes accompanied with fluttering would make me feel faint and languid. The least excitement or mental worry would almost unnerve me. I felt that the trouble was growing worse all the time, and after trying many remedies prescribed by physicians without obtaining relief, I was induced to give your remedies a trial. I was relieved the second day, and after taking three or four bottles all symptoms were removed and have never showed signs of returning."—REV. GEO. W. KIRACOFF, Chincoteague, Va.

There are many symptoms of heart disease, which so closely resemble those of more common nervous disorders as to frequently mislead the attending physician. Often in cases of heart trouble the stomach, kidneys, liver or lungs become affected. Again the symptoms may be those of weakened nerves, as tired feeling, sleeplessness, timidity, the patient is easily excitable and apt to worry without cause. If you have the least suspicion that your heart is weak study your symptoms and begin the use of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, the great heart and blood tonic, without a day's delay.

STOCK YARDS SOLD

Chicago Millionaire Buys Large Interests in Kentucky.

The Central Yards at Louisville in Which Ex-Paducahans Are Interested to Change Hands.

WILL BE GREATLY ENLARGED

One of the biggest deals on record in Kentucky was consummated in Louisville yesterday in the purchase of a controlling interest in the Central Stock yards there by Samuel W. Allerton, the multi-millionaire pork packer, of Chicago, who will establish in Louisville, according to reports, one of the largest stock yards in the world, together with a gigantic pork packing plant.

The deal is of particular interest to Paducahans because two former Paducahans are among those who established the Central stock yards, and are now largely interested in them, Mr. R. C. Watkins and Mr. Harry Ashcraft the latter a son of Major J. H. Ashcraft.

There are 5000 shares and Mr. Allerton has purchased 3000 of them. The company was capitalized for $500,000 and began operation November 4, 1901 and over $200,000 was spent in the construction of the main plant. Outside capital held the control. The officers are Mr. Ira F. Brainard, president; Mr. R. C. Watkins, vice president and traffic manager; Mr. J. W. Byrne, superintendent; Mr. J. H. Ashcraft, Jr., secretary and treasurer. It has been only fairly successful because of troubles in securing railway service. The Southern Railway company has been the only connecting line, but now it will have the best of railway connections, Mr. Allerton being identified with the Pennsylvania and other large railroads.

A big pork packing plant will be built and it is said that at least $500,000 more will be invested in the enterprise. Work on the addition to the plant will be begun within the next few months.

Mr. Allerton is a rival of the Cudahys, who have an interest in the Bourbon Stock yards and control the Louisville Packing company.

Mr. Allerton is a practical stock yards man. He owns plants in Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Baltimore and New York, and has large holdings in the stock yards of Chicago and St. Louis.

ONLY A COMB

BUT IT CAUGHT FIRE AND CREATED EXCITEMENT.

There were exciting times at the residence of Prof. Don J. Milam last night, says yesterday's Fulton Leader. The house had a narrow escape of destruction by fire.

Mrs. Milam had left the house to visit a neighbor and on returning found her home full of smoke. She immediately thought the house was on fire and shot a revolver twice to attract assistance.

A great crowd soon rushed in but for a long time they were unable to locate the blaze. A portion of the ceiling was torn off in an effort to find the blaze. Finally a celluloid comb was found on fire on a dresser and the vast amount of smoke was caused by this. It is supposed that Mrs. Milam in lighting a lamp, dropped the match on the celluloid article.

HYPNOTIST'S POWER

COULDN'T BE USED WHEN IT WAS NEEDED MOST.

Syracuse, N. Y., July 3.—Following domestic differences, the wife of John T. Fay, the noted hypnotist, has fled from the city, being assisted aboard a train bound for her home in St. Louis, where her mother resides, by a policeman, after the husband had appealed to the police to prevent her going. Mrs. Fay says her husband has not used her well; that he had locked her out and torn her clothes into shreds when she felt badly. The scene at the station was a touching one. The husband wept and begged the police to help him. He pleaded with his wife to stay, but the woman's will proved stronger than the man's hypnotic influence. The Fays have appeared in all the big cities, where their act has created a sensation.

Mrs. W. C. Sutherland has gone to Louisville to visit.

THE LATEST INVENTION SUCCESSFULLY APPLIED IN NEW YORK.

New York, July 3.—A machine by which one's handwriting may be transmitted by a telephone wire is the invention of E. Karl Gruhn of Dresden, Germany, and is now being exhibited at an office on Broadway. It is called the telechirograph, but it is, in fact, merely a greatly improved form of the telautograph. This instrument differs from telautographs heretofore invented in that the power required for this instrument is much less than that needed for others doing the same thing. This machine also does not require the services of an operator wielding a stencil at the receiving end. The inventor says that his scheme has been tried between Dresden and Berlin and given complete satisfaction. A few days ago a check was written on the instrument and the reproduction was readily honored at the bank upon which it was drawn.

THE BOSS WORM MEDICINE.

H. P. Kumpe, druggist, Leighton, Ala., writes: "One of my customers had a child which was sick and threw up all food; could retain nothing on its stomach. He bought one bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge and it brought up 119 worms from the child. It's the boss worm medicine in the world." White's Cream Vermifuge is also the children's tonic. It improves their digestion and assimilation of food, strengthens their nervous system and restores them to the health, vigor and elasticity of spirits natural to childhood. 25c at DuBois, Kolb & Co.

ANTHONY HOPE WEDS.

TAKES MISS SHELDON AS A BRIDE—A SWELL WEDDING.

London, July 3.—Anthony Hope Hawkins, the novelist, and Miss Elizabeth Sheldon of New York were married at St. Bride's church in Fleet street, of which the bridegroom's father is the vicar. There were six bridesmaids, one of whom was Miss Ethel Barrymore. Miss Sheldon is the daughter of Charles H. Sheldon of New York. Her father is the manager of the Carnegie music hall, and her sister, Susanne Sheldon, who married Henry Ainley last month, took the part of the "Abbess" in Sothern's production of If I Were King. Her brothers were in their time celebrated Yale athletes.

THE STRENUOUS IN RELIGION.

Tipton, Ind., July 3.—The members of Pleasantview church, six miles west of Tipton, are having contention over an organ which was placed in the church a short time ago. A faction does not want an organ, while another faction, composed of the younger element, declares they will have the organ. Last week some one entered the church and demolished the new organ, but it was repaired and used Sunday. Last night the church was again entered and the organ broken to pieces with an ax.

THE GLORIOUS FOURTH

Many Forms of Amusement Provided for Paducahans.

The Parks and Fair Grounds Promise to be Filled With Pleasure Seekers.

THE PROGRAM FOR THE DAY

There are no elaborate preparations for any especial form of amusement in Paducah tomorrow, July Fourth, but the indications are there will be plenty of diversion for everybody.

Being a national holiday, the banks, postoffice and other institutions will be closed, and most of the mercantile establishments will close at noon. Few of the manufactories will run at all, and a large majority of the people will have a holiday.

AT WALLACE PARK.

At Wallace park, in Paducah, there will be plenty of amusement for the large crowds that go there every Fourth of July. The prospects are for the usual number, and for the benefit of the public four theatrical performances will be given. The grounds will be provided with every convenience, and there will be various events in the way of swimming matches, etc., to enliven the day. The following prizes have been offered:

To winner of straightaway swimming race, $2.50; to second, $1; to first in tub race, $2.50; to second, $1.50; to third, $1; to first in barrel race, $2.50; to second, $1.50; to third, $1.

A $2 gold piece will be placed in a cup at the top of a greased pole, and whoever can get it by climbing the pole will be entitled to it. These contests are open to boys only, not exceeding 18 years of age, and will be held in the morning from 10 to 12 o'clock.

The following conditions are to be observed: Each contestant to furnish his own bath suit or pay for same at regular bathhouse rates. In tub and barrel races each contestant to furnish own tub and barrel. Not more than six contestants in each event; in case of less number one prize of $2.50 will be given as a whole or divided, as contestants may decide.

THE SHAM BATTLE.

The sham battle at Wallace park will be one of the most unique as well as exciting events of the day. The Paducah Murray, Clinton and Mayfield military companies are scheduled to come and participate, and the spectacle will be one well worth going to see. Excursions will probably be run from various places and the boys intend to give the public a sight to remember.

PEPSOL-COC. COLA GAME.

Seldom has such interest been taken in an amateur game of ball in Paducah as is manifested in the match game tomorrow afternoon at Wallace park between the Coca Cola and Pepsol teams. The boys are their respective admirers and rooters, and everybody will be out. The game will be called at 3 o'clock and will be a hot one.

HARMONY SINGING.

The harmony singing at the fair grounds will probably draw one of the largest crowds ever seen in the county, as hundreds from far and near are coming. There will be in connection with it a free barbecue and an enjoyable time is promised everybody. The addresses will be of an unusually high order, and the music will be a feature.

GET MARKETING EARLY.

As tomorrow is a holiday people should purchase their marketing in the forenoon. The butchers and others intent to celebrate and in the afternoon and evening there will be little on the market, hence everybody should get it early.

K. OF P. AT IETROPOLIS.

The local Knight of Pythias will go to Metropolis to assist in the big celebration at old Mt. Massac, and it is probable quite a crowd will accompany them. They'll spend the day there and return in the evening.

GO TO OTHER PLACES.

A great many people will spend the day in other places. Many will spend the day in the woods, scores across the river at the lake while others will go to the parks.

Varying Purities of Air.

While over 80,000 liters per liter were found in the air old houses in Paris only six were found in the same quantity of air the mountain tops.

By "X-Rays."

Just for once won't you try a pair of shoes that are not made from guesswork measurements of what your foot ought to be, but from "X-ray" photographs of what women's feet really are?

The "Dorothy Dodd" Shoe is exactly shaped to the bones, muscles, and ligaments of the foot, as they are plainly revealed by "X-ray" photograph. This is the explanation of why you hear so much talk on all sides about the wonderful "Fit of a 'Dorothy Dodd.'" The shoe deserves its popular nickname of "an arrangement in comfort." But all this is of no help to you unless you own a pair. On the day you buy them you will learn a new lesson in Foot Comfort.

After that, no one can sell you any other shoe but a "Dorothy Dodd."

Sincerely yours,

DOROTHY DODD.

A FEW NEW FIGURES ON RECENT LYNCHINGS

(From the New York Herald.)
The lynchings of the negroes at Wilmington, Del., and Belleville, Ill., the efforts of mobs to mete out punishment on negro criminals in East St. Louis and Peoria, and the widespread discussion at this time of the race problem have turned the attention of the public again to the prevalence of lynching and the causes thereof.

Statistics of the last ten years show that 1,483 lynchings have occurred in the United States in that time. The following table gives an exhibit of the extent of mob law for each of the years:

1893	200	1890	107
1894	180	1900	115
1895	171	1901	135
1896	181	1902	96
1897	166	1903 to date	45
1898	127

Last year shows the best record for twenty years. January, February, March and April of this year indicated that 1903 was to be even more free of the disgrace, but June has already contributed fourteen lynchings to the record, and eleven men and one woman, all negroes but one, were victims of mobsin May. The roll of dishonor by states during the last ten years is as follows:

Arkansas	94	New York	1

Cairo, Ill., July 3—Cairo defeated Henderson yesterday by a score of 19 to 0. The game was a feature in errors for Henderson. The summary is as follows: Henderson, 0-3-21; Cairo, 19-20-0.

HOPTOWN AGAIN BEATEN.

Hopkinsville, July 3—Yesterday's game resulted: Clarksville—20 runs, 17 hits, 8 errors; Harris and Holmes. Hopkinsville—9 runs, 16 hits, 9 errors; Eggleton and Street. Umpire, Moss.

Dummy Daft of Mayfield failed to make good and was not signed. He is pretty fast in amateur baseball, but slow in professional company.

A pipe line is being laid from Wallace park over to the ball grounds so the grounds can be sprinkled and also to put in shower baths for the players.

John Kelley, the Vincennes catcher, has been sent for and will arrive tomorrow or tonight. He is the fastest catcher in the league excepting Street of the Hoptown team.

Fitzgerald this morning left for Jackson to go in as an official umpire. He will be the official umpire for this section of the league territory, umpiring here and wherever Paducah goes.

Monday Paducah will open with three games with Hopkinsville and then go to Clarksville for three games, returning Monday a week and playing a series of games with Jackson at this city.

President Ben Weille telegraphed last night to Billy Sudhoff of the St. Louis baseball team asking him to send two good pitchers here. He has received no answer, but thinks Sudhoff will send the men.

All teams were "off" yesterday and the games played were only exhibition games. This was done in order to have two games each day at the cities where teams are playing, on account of large attendance on the Fourth of July.

The Paducah colored club, Ben Bryd captain, beat the East St. Louis club by a score of 10 to 5 at Wallace park yesterday afternoon. A large crowd was out, including as many white as colored people. At times the game is better than a show.

The Cairo Bulletin is a firm believer in the hoodoo which is pursuing the Hopkinsville team, as will be seen from the following clipping: "Hopkinsville has the record for extra inning games and losing by one score. If they were to make 100 runs the opposing team would make 101. They are a stumbling block to the best teams in the league, and they have a cinch on walking right over the Paducah Indians." This is pretty tough on us.

FRANCHISE TAX.

THE STATE BOARD HAS FINALLY PASSED ON OTHERS.

Frankfort, July 3—The state board of valuation and assessment has passed finally on the assessment for franchise tax purposes of the Western Union telegraph company for 1903, fixing the valuation at $635,666 and the tax at $3,178.34; C., N. O. and T. P. Railway Co., for present year, fixing valuation at $3,395,547 and tax at $16,977.73; Louisville and Jeffersonville Bridge Co., valuation, $545,655, and tax, $2,728.27; C. and O. Railway Co., valuation, $2,466,055, and tax, $12,330.27; Louisville and Atlantic Railway Co., valuation, $199,760, and tax, $998. The Louisville Home Telephone Co. was given time to file an amended report.

Miss Era Salisbury and Mr. Miles Young, of Halls, Tenn., will arrive in the city Sunday to visit Miss Dora Burham.

SUES LABOR UNIONS

DAMAGES ASKED FOR A BOYCOTT AGAINST A BUILDING.

San Antonio, Tex., July 3—Attorney General Bell and District Attorney Bee, in the name of the state of Texas, filed the first suit ever filed against labor unions under the anti-trust law, seeking to recover heavy penalties and asking for an injunction restraining the unions and officers from maintaining and continuing a boycott that has been declared. The style of the suit his the state of Texas vs the trades council and the electrical workers' union of San Antonio and Paul Steffer, Watton Petet, Frank Van Riper, L. Stanley, John Thompson and J. D. Broderick, officers of the union, asking for $6,000 penalties already incurred and for $50 per day for each day the matter complained of is continued, and asking for an injunction restraining said labor organizations and officers from continuing a boycott against the Herff building.

Ferdinand Herff, a wealthy citizen of San Antonio, has just completed a magnificent business block in the most desirable business section of the city, and in awarding contracts let the contract for electrical wiring to a firm that was on the union's "unfair" list. When this was done and the building completed the electrical workers' union and the trades council rendered an official boycott of the building, and to merchants who were negotiating leases on the building a warning was sent to the effect that if they leased the building they would be boycotted by the trades council. This resulted in all negotiations for leases of the building being declared off.

RAILROAD PICNIC

IT MAY BE HELD ON THE CAIRO DIVISION THIS YEAR.

There is already considerable talk among the railroad employes of the annual picnic, which is usually held during August. Committees will shortly be appointed to arrange for the outing and select a place. It is not known, of course, what place will be chosen, but it is thought possible some point on the Cairo division may be selected, as there are a number of available places.

Captain John Webb went to Illinois today on a drumming trip.

FRIDAY, JULY 3 1903.

THE WEATHER.

Fair tonight. Saturday probably showers, and not so warm.

Tomorrow the small boy will be happy and the doctor will be busy.

Judging from reports, the Graves county religious debate ought to be brought here as a companion piece for the Fourth of July sham battle at the park.

Today Chairman Allie Young of the Democratic committee will show the Democrats who want him to resign how little he cares for what they want.

The Republican convention in Mc-Cracken county July 11 should be well borne in mind, and a large crowd turn out. It is expected to make it one of the largest and most enthusiastic on record, and every Republican is urged to turn out and vote his choice for the delegation's instructions.

Former Councilman Dick Davis ought to come out and say what he is going to do about running for mayor and get some of these fellows off the anxious seat. If he would accept the call and run for alderman it would no doubt suit some of them a great deal better, for he couldn't run for alderman and mayor too.

A number of Kentucky's most intellectual men gathered at Cincinnati a few days ago in response to a letter from some practical joker about Mr.
Andrew Carnegie's having a lot of money to distribute among the educational institutions of Kentucky. It is strange that our smartest men can be roped in in such a manner, but only goes to prove that book learning is not always as valuable as a knowledge of human nature.

Louisville is claiming a distinction that she is not properly entitled to.
Day before yesterday she claimed to be third to the hottest city in the United States, following El Paso, Tex., and Pittsburg, Pa., and yet the maximum was only 93. In Paducah we had 95 degrees, and didn't consider it hot either, as it has been known to pass the 100 mark many a time in summer. Louisville must go 'way back and sit down when it comes to heat.

Democratic papers that are trying to use the postoffice frauds to make political capital should remember that it is the Republicans who are putting the rascals out and calling them to answer before the courts for their alleged fraudulent practices. If the people had waited for the Democrats to do it they would be still waiting a great many years from now, because the Democrats will never be in office long enough to recover rascality of any description anybody out.

A STATEMENT

OF FACTS REGARDING THE
TELEPHONE SITUATION,
WHICH SHOULD BE CARE-FULLY READ BY THOSE CON-CERNED.

There seem to be so many people who are laboring under a misapprehension as to the true status of the telephone situation that the writer, who has given the matter considerable study, feels constrained to say a few words relative thereto, and gives as an excuse for so doing a desire to prevent the people of Paducah from being misled.

Doubtless nearly all of us are familiar with the history of the "new"
company's entrance into this city.

1st. Recognizing that a second telephone system would be an added useless expense, to say nothing of the annoyance, we were almost a unit in our opposition to permitting the "new" company to come here.

2nd. After the "new" company came a committee was appointed by various organizations to secure signatures to a petition, the signers of which were to use the service of one company. When the petition was being circulated most of us were clearly under the impression that the service of the "old," or East Tennessee Co., would be selected, as the latter has always given us satisfactory service at reasonable rates.

3rd. The new company, finding that we were opposed to having two systems, sought to introduce its service by offering three months' service free, with the understanding that we could discontinue the use of the same on July 1 should we desire to do so.

4th. July 1 has come and passed.
We have given the new telephone a trial. Since the 1st some of us have dispensed with the service of the new company, and some of us with the service of the old company. Most of those who dispensed with the old company's service discovered that their business was being injured thereby, and have had their telephones reinstated.

Now, what is the result from a business man's viewpoint of the new company's entrance into this field? (1) Business men have telephones for the convenience and accommodation of their customers, and for the dollars and cents they can get from their use.
This being true, the service a business man should have would be the one which afforded the most facilities,
and at the same time the best service.

(2) The old company offers us connection with more than 1,700 subscribers in this city, about two-thirds more than the new company has, at practically the same rates that the new company proposes to charge. Practically all the subscribers of the new company can be reached through the old company's system. In addition to offering us a very much larger number of subscribers, the old company gives us free service with its subscribers throughout the county and places in our homes a facility which enables us to talk over its long distance lines to all the principal towns and cities in this country. This facility the new company cannot hope to have for many years, if at all. The writer has heard it said by many successful business men that the chief value of the telephone lay in its extensiveness, and there is no disputing the fact that the old company's long distance system is of infinite value to this city's commercial interests.

4th. The new company has just begun to present its bills for the first three months' service, and, judging from expressions made by prominent business men, its collectors, before they have gone far, will conclude that the "ice man" has been mingling
with the telephone users of Paducah.
In other words, those whom the writer has heard express themselves intend to have the new telephone taken out as soon as they attempt to collect for it.
Those who might desire to keep the new telephone for a few days, or first quarter they are finding themselves to an ironclad, long-time contract, and, as the new company's exact
standing and future are unknown,
they are unwilling to pay for the first three months, with the result that the new telephone must come out.

5th. The bottom has fallen out of the new company's business, and the petition signed by some of the men and women in the old company's office reveals the fact that Louisians who ordered their telephones have since had most of them
taken out.

6th. The new company's exact
standing and future are unknown,
they are unwilling to pay for the first
three months, with the result that the
new telephone must come out.

7th. The new company's exact
standing and future are unknown,
they are unwilling to pay for the first
three months, with the result that the
new telephone must come out.

business by reason of being without the old telephone, instructed those of his patrons who have only the old telephone to call him at a "certain" number. Others, learning of this, immediately announced their intention to put back the old telephone.

In view of the foregoing facts the new company's position reminds us of the old darkey, who in trying to quote scripture said:

"Blessed am dose what don't 'speak
nuffin', caze dey ain't gwine ter git fooled."

That we should not swallow all we hear about the new company's unparalleled success (?) without using a good deal of salt is evidenced by the foregoing facts. In the writer's opinion the old system is the one we want, and those advocating the "one-telephone movement," knowing that the old company has practically all the necessary and available connections, should stick to it.

LATE NEWS OF ROADS KILLED IN THE FIELD

Illinois Central's Business Below Paducah is Increasing.

Resignation of Fulton Foreman Declined—News in Local Railroad Circles.

SMALLEST ROAD IN STATE

The smallest railroad in Kentucky is the Burnside and Cincinnati, which has just filed articles of incorporation at Frankfort. The incorporation articles reorganize the smallest independent railroad company in Kentucky. The stock is divided into 5,000 shares of $1 each. The road is one mile long and connects Burnside Junction on the Cincinnati Southern with a landing at the junction of Cumberland and South Park rivers.
The gross earnings of the line last year were $12,959.40.

There can now be no doubts regarding the Illinois Central rebuilding that section of its road between East Cape Girardeau and McClure, which was almost entirely destroyed by the recent high water. Hundreds of men were put to work on the line Tuesday and contractors are endeavoring to secure all the men possible. They intend to push the work and have it completed within a few days.

For the past month the business of the Illinois Central railroad has steady-ly increased and five extra clerks have been employed to assist, three in the Cairo office and two at Mounds.
Every freight agent in Cairo has been obliged to hire extra clerks to take care of the increased business.

T. L. Dubbs has been appointed assistant trainmaster of the Tennessee division of the J. C. Supt. Given made the appointment yesterday. The office was created to assist in the handling of the increasing business.
Dubbs is a conductor on the Cairo and Fulton run.

charge of an engine which crashed
General Superintendent Rawn's car into a train at Fulton Wednesday, and who handed in his resignation after the accident, has been asked to remain
by the company.

Master Mechanic T. F. Barton will

STORY WITHOUT A MORAL.

Debauchery Laid the Foundation for a Competence.

In a prosperous town in Mexico lives a merchant whose wealth grew out of a combination of good luck and drunkenness. An uncontrollable desire for drink cost him position after position, and he drifted down to Mexico and became a news agent. He sold lottery tickets. He had to report on drawing day what unsold tickets he had and forward them. He got drunk the day before one of the big drawings. Two days later he sobered up and found himself in possession of several hundred dollars worth of unsold tickets. He did not possess $10 in the world. He examined the list and found that a number of the unsold tickets had drawn prizes aggregating $25,000 in gold. He collected the winnings, paid for the unsold tickets and took an oath of perpetual total abstinence. That was years ago. He has never touched liquor since, and is today a wealthy man.

of the Broadway Methodist church.

BOUGHT NEW HORSES—The city
now has two new horses for the fire department. Owing to the strength, endurance and fleetness necessary in horses for the fire department, no suitable animals could be found in this section, so Chief Wood had Mr. Gus Thompson purchase the city two good horses while he was at Chicago, and they are expected in today over the I.
C. Mr. Thompson has just returned from the Windy City and states that the horses are very fine ones.

CANCEROUS ULCERS ROOTED IN THE BLOOD.

After the age of 45 or 50, when the vital powers are naturally weaker, it is noticed that a hurt of any kind heals slowly and often a very insignificant scratch or bruise becomes a bad ulcer or sore. At this time of life warty growths, moles and pimples that have been on the body almost from birth begin to inflame and fester, and before very long are large eating ulcers.

When a sore or ulcer is slow in healing then you may be sure something is radically wrong with your blood. Some old taint or poison that has been slumbering there for years, is beginning to assert itself, and breaks out and becomes a bad ulcer and perhaps the beginning of Cancer. These old sores are rooted in the blood, and while washes, soaps, salves, etc., keep the surface clean, they are not healing. A blood medicine to purify and strengthen the polluted blood and a tonic to build up the general system is what is needed, and S. S. S. is just such a remedy. No poison is so powerful and no germ so deadly that this great vegetable blood remedy cannot reach it, and ulcers of every kind quickly yield to its wonderful curative properties. If you have an old sore or ulcer, write us all about it, and medical advice or any information you may desire will be given by our physicians without charge. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

BREACH OF PROMISE.

IN WHICH CORPORATIONS ARE MADE PARTIES TO SUIT.

Bedford, Ind., July 3.—Miss Epsie George, who filed the sensational breach of promise suit against Lawyer Peugh, filed another suit against Spencer B. Peugh and naming as accessories the following persons and corporations: Midland Portland Cement company, Bedford National bank, Stone City bank and the Capital National bank, of Indianapolis; George W. McDaniel, V. V. Williams, James E. Boruff, W. A. Brown and Frank Owens.

Miss George, in her complaint, avers that Mr. Peugh had won her affections and confidence, and that these other parties worked through him and sold her real estate, stocks, etc., to the value of $50,000.

The reason the banks named are made parties to the suit is that it is alleged that Mr. Peugh has from $15,000 to $18,000 of the funds thus secured now on deposit in these banks.

CAUTION!

This is not a gentle word—but when you think how liable you are not to purchase the only remedy universally known and a remedy that has had the largest sale of any medicine in the world since 1868 for the cure and treatment of consumption and throat and lung troubles without losing its great popularity all these years, you will be thankful we called your attention to Boschee's German syrup. There are so many ordinary cough remedies made by druggists and others that are cheap and good for light colds perhaps, but for severe coughs, bronchitis, croup—and especially for consumption, where there is difficult expectation and coughing during the nights and mornings, there is nothing like German Syrup. The 25 cents size has just been introduced this year. Regular size 75 cents. At all druggists. DuBois, Kolb & Co.

BAD MEN COMING.

WANTS TO "TAKE ON" SOME ONE HERE.

Yesterday's Evansville Courier said: "Kid" LeFeber took summary vengeance on the so-called "Kid Moran," who made such a fiasco on the boxing contest on the river Tuesday night.

He went to his home at 610 Upper Fourth street about 4 o'clock Wednesday morning and pummeled the faker severely for getting him into a battle in which "Moran" knew he had no chance to win.

"Kid Moran" later threatened to get out a peace warrant against his former antagonist, but was dissuaded from doing so.

LeFeber leaves this morning for Paducah, where he hopes to take on some man whose standing is known. It is understood George Weikel will manage any bout that may be brought off there.

THE PERFECT LIVER MEDICINE.

Mrs. M. A. Jolley, Noble, O. T., writes: "I have used Herbine for a number of years and can cheerfully recommend it is the most perfect liver medicine and the greatest blood purifier. It is a medicine of positive merit and fully accomplishes all that is claimed for it." Malaria cannot find a lodgment in the system while the liver is in perfect order, for one of its functions is to prevent the absorption of fever-producing poisons. Herbine is a most efficient liver regulator. 50c at DuBois, Kolb & Co.

BOYS AUXILIARY.

OF THE WOODMEN ORGANIZED
YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

The Boys' Auxiliary of the Woodmen of the World, mentioned several days ago, was organized yesterday afternoon at the lodge rooms on South Third street, with the following officers: Lorenzo Emery, president; Ambrose Moore, vice president; John Calloway, secretary; Brooks Holliday, treasurer; Carlisle Beck, watchman; J. C. Helsley, drillmaster. The organization is to promote social intercourse among the members and become proficient in drill. They will doubtless shortly have a drum and trumpet corps.

CURES SCIATICA.

Rev. W. L. Riley, LL.D., Cuba, N. Y., writes: "After fifteen days of excruciating pain from sciatic rheumatism, under various treatments, I was induced to try Ballard's Snow Liniment, the first application giving me instant relief, and the second entire cure."—Unqualifiedly recommended.

"HE NEVER BLAMED THE BOOZE"

Tramp Peddles Merry Jingles That Contain a Moral.

An old tramp, touselled and grimy, peddles this every day on the Bowery, always with these words in husky tones: "Not copyrighted—no owner—but the Truth."

He took a bottle up to bed.
Drank whisky hot each night.
Drank cocktails in the morning.
But never could get tight.
He shivered in the evening.
And always had the blues.
Until he took a bowl or two—
But he never blamed the booze.

His joints were full of rheumatiz.
His appetite was slack.
He had pains between his shoulders.
And chills ran down his back.
He suffered from insomnia.
At night he couldn't snooze;
He said it was the climate—
But he never blamed the booze.

His constitution was run down—
At least, that's what he said—
His legs were swelled each morning.
And he often had swollen head.
He claimed he always laid awake
Till early sunrise beams.
He thought it was malaria—
Alas, 'twas but a ruse—
He blamed it onto everything—
But he never blamed the booze.

He said he couldn't sleep at nights,
And he always had bad dreams;
He claimed he always laid awake
Till early sunrise beams.
He thought it was malaria—
Alas, 'twas but a ruse—
He blamed it onto everything—
But he never blamed the booze.

His liver needed scraping.
And his kidneys had the gout;
He swallowed lots of bitters.
Till at last he cleaned them out.
His legs were swelled with dropsy.
Till he had to cut his shoes.
He blamed it to the doctors—
But he never blamed the booze.

Then he had the tremens,
And he tackled rats and snakes;
First he had the fever,
And then he had the shakes.
At last he had a funeral.
And the mourners had the blues.
And the epitaph they carved for him
Was—
"He never blamed the booze."

Every night the same old tramp keeps a dime for a bed and that is all he saves from the sales of his jingles. The remainder goes for the "booze."—New York Sun.

Names Brought Recollections.

Two congressmen elect from Illinois—Charles E. Fuller of Belvidere and H. M. Snapp of Aurora—were being introduced around the capitol in Washington a few days ago. Someone happened to refer to them as "Messrs. Fuller and Snapp" and a Southern Democrat remarked reflectively: "Fuller and Snapp? Reminds me of a law firm in one of Dickens' novels." Perhaps the Southerner was thinking of Quirk, Gammon & Snap in Warren's "Ten Thousand a Year."

OUTING SPOTS

There are many places in the country of the Northern Pacific, some inexpensive, others better and more expensive, where one can spend the summer days pleasantly and healthfully. Among these are Walker in the Leech lake country, and Detroit and Battle Lake in the Lake Park region in Minnesota; Eaton's ranch, near Medora, N. D.; Hunter's Hot Springs in the Yellowstone valley, and Missoula and the Bitter-root valley in Montana; Lakes Pend d'Oreille and Cour d'Alene, Idaho; North Yakima in Eastern Washington, and Green River Hot Springs in the Cascades; Tacoma, Seattle, Port Townsend, Port Angeles and Victoria on Puget Sound, and many places along the Columbia river and on the Pacific Ocean from Portland as a center.

Those east of the Mississippi who wish a decided change should go to the Rockies or the Puget Sound and Columbia river and sea coast country. We can only hint at these things here, but write us giving particulars as near as you can, and we will try to give you the needed information to enable you to find what you want. And don't forget that Yellowstone Park is the chief of all tourist shrines.

Send to Chas. S. Fee, General Passenger Agent, St. Paul, Minn., six cents for "Wonderland 1902." You need it in your business.

GRAUSTARK

...By...
GEORGE BARR MCCUTCHEON

Copyright, 1901, by Herbert S. Stone

"Your highness, I must ask you to write a pardon for the good people in whose house the prisoner was found," suggested Quinnox, shrewdly seeing a chance for communication unsuspected by the prince.

"A moment, your highness," said the prince, who had recovered himself cleverly. "I appreciate your position. I have made a serious charge, and I now have a fair proposition to suggest to you. If this man is not produced to-morrow morning, I take it for granted that I am liberty to tell all that has happened in this room tonight. If he is produced, I shall kneel and beg your pardon."

The princess turned paler than ever and knew not how she kept from falling to the floor. There was a long silence following Gabriel's unexpected but fair suggestion.

"That is very fair, your highness," said Lorry. "There is no reason why I should not be a prisoner to-morrow. I don't see how I can hope to escape the inevitable. Your dungeon is strong, and I have given my word of honor to the captain that I shall make no further effort to evade the law."

"I agree," murmured the princess, ready to faint under the strain.

"I must see him delivered to Prince Bolazoz," added Gabriel mercilessly.

"To Bolazoz," she repeated.

"Your highness, the pardon for the poor old people," reminded Quinnox.

"For God's sake, do not murder me!"

She glided to the desk, stunned, bewildered. It seemed as though death were upon her. Quinnox followed and bent near her ear. "Do not be alarmed," he whispered. "No one knows of Mr. Lorry's presence here save the prince, and if he dares to accuse you before Bolazoz our people will tear him to pieces. No one will believe him."

"You—you can save him, then?" she gasped joyously.

"If he will permit me to do so. Write to him what you will, your highness, and he shall have the message. Be brave, and all will go well. Write quickly. This is supposed to be the pardon."

She wrote feverishly, a thousand thoughts arising for every one that she was able to transfer to the paper. When she had finished the hope inspired scrawl she arose and with a gracious smile handed to the waiting captain the pardon for those who had secreted the fugitive.

"I grant forgiveness to them gladly," she said.

"I thank you," said Lorry, bowing low.

"Mr. Lorry, I regret the difficulty in which you find yourself. It was on my account, too, I am told. Be you guilty or innocent, you are my friend, my protector. May God be good to you." She gave him her hand calmly, steadily, as if she were bestowing favor upon a subject. He kissed the hand gravely.

"Forgive me for trespassing on your good nature tonight, your highness."

"The 5,000 gavros shall be yours to-morrow, Captain Quinnox," she said graciously. "You have done your duty well." The faithful captain bowed deep and low and a weight was lifted from his conscience.

"Gentlemen, the door," he said, and without a word the trio left the room. She closed the door and stood like a statue until their footsteps died away in the distance. As one in a daze she sat at the desk till the dawn. Grenfall Lorry's revolver lying before her.

Through the halls, down the stairs and into the clammy dungeon strode the silent trio. But before Lorry stepped inside the cell Gabriel asked a question that had been troubling him for many minutes.

"I am afraid I have—ah—misjudged you," muttered Gabriel, now convinced that he had committed himself irretrievably.

"You will find she has not misjudged you," said the prisoner grimly. "Can't I have a candle in here, captain?"

"You may keep this lantern," said Quinnox, stepping inside the narrow cell. As he placed the lantern on the floor he whispered: "I will return in an hour. Read this!" Lorry's hand closed over the bit of perfumed paper.

The prince was now inside the cell, peering about curiously, even timorous.

ly. "By the way, your highness, how would you enjoy living in a hole like this all your life?"

"Horrible!" said Gabriel, shuddering like a leaf.

"Then take my advice—don't commit any murders. Hire some one else."

The two men eyed each other steadily for a moment or two. Then the prince looked out of the cell, a mad desire to fly from some dreadful, unseen horror coming over him.

Quinnox locked the door and, striking a match, bade his highness precede him up the stone steps.

In the cell the prisoner read and reread the incoherent message from Yette:

It is the only way. Go. I will assist you to escape tonight. Go. I implore you; as you love me, go. Your life is more than all to me. Gabriel's story will not be entertained, and he can have no proof. He will be torn to pieces, Quinnox says. Do not think of me, but save yourself. I would lose everything to save you.

He smiled sadly as he burned the "pardon." The concluding sentences swept away the last thought he might have had of leaving her to bear the consequences. "Do not think of me, but save yourself. I would lose everything to save you." He leaned against the stone wall and shook his head slowly, the smile still on his lips.

CHAPTER XXV.

"BECAUSE I LOVE HIM."

THE next morning Edelweiss was astir early. Great throngs of people flocked the streets long before the hour set for the signing of the decree that was to divide the north from the south. The whole nation, it seemed, stood before the walls awaiting with bated breath and dismal faces the announcement that Yette had decided to Bolazoz the lands and lives of half of her subjects.

Shortly before 9 o'clock Harry Anguish, with his guard of six, rode up to the castle. Captain Dangloss was beside him on his gray charger. They had scarcely passed inside the gates when a cavalcade of mounted men came riding up the avenue from the Hotel Regenzetz. Then the howling, the hissing, the hooting began. Maledictions were hurled at the heads of Axlaphin noblemen as they rode between the maddened lines of people. They smiled sardonically in reply to the impotent signs of hatred, but they were glad when the castle gates closed between them and the vast, despairing crowd, in which the tempest of revolt was brewing with unmistakable energy.

Prince Bolazoz, the Duke of Mizroix and the ministers were already in the castle and had been there since the previous afternoon. In the royal palace the excitement was intense, but it was of the subdued kind that strains the nerves to the point where control is martyrdom.

When the attendants went to the bed-chamber of the princess at 7 o'clock, as was their wont, they found, to their surprise, no one standing guard.

The princess was not in her chamber, nor had she been there during the night. The bed was undisturbed. In some alarm the two women ran to her parlor, then to the boudoir. Here they found her asleep on the divan, attired in the gown she had worn since the evening before, now crumpled and creased, the proof positive of a restless, miserable night.

Her first act after awakening and untangling the meshes in her throbbing, uncomprehending brain was to send for Quinnox. She could scarcely wait for his appearance and the assurance that Lorry was safely out of danger. The footman who had been sent to fetch the captain was a long time in returning. She was dressed in her breakfast gown long before he came in with the report that the captain was nowhere to be found. Her heart gave a great throb of joy. She alone could explain his absence. To her it meant but one thing—Lorry's flight from the castle. Where else could Quinnox be except with the fugitive, perhaps once more inside St. Valentine's?

Preparations began at once for the eventual transaction in the throne room. The splendor of two courts was to shine in rivalry. Ten o'clock was the hour set for the meeting of the two rulers, the victor and the victim. Her nobles and her ladies, her ministers, her guards and her lackeys moved about in the halls, dreading the hour, brushing against the hated Axlaphin guests. In one of the small waiting rooms sat the Count and Countess Halfont, the latter in tears. The young Countess Dagmar stood at a window with Harry Anguish. The latter was flushed and nervous and acted like a man who expects that which is unexpected by others. With a strange confidence in his voice, he sought to cheer his depressed friends, but the cheerfulness was not contagious. The sombre-ness of a burial hung over the castle.

Half an hour before the time set for the meeting in the throne room Yette sent for her uncle, her aunt and Dagmar. As Anguish and the latter followed, the girl turned her sad, puzzled eyes up to the face of the tall American and said:

"Are you rejoicing over our misfortune? You do not show a particle of regret. Do you forget that we are sacrificing a great deal to save the life of your friend? I do not understand how you can be so heartless."

"I think I can explain satisfactorily when I have more time," he said softly in her ear, and, although she tried, she could find no words to continue. He left her at the head of the stairs and did not see her again until she passed him in the throne room. Then she was pale and brave and trembling.

Prince Bolazoz and his nobles stood to the right of the throne, the Graustark men and women of degree to the left, while near the door on both sides were to be seen the leading military men of both principalities. Near the Duke of Mizroix was stationed the figure of Gabriel, prince of Dawstbergen. He had come, with a half dozen followers, among a crowd of unsuspecting Axlaphinians, and had taken his position near the throne. Anguish entered with Baron Dangloss, and they stood together near the doorway, the latter whiter than he had ever been in his life.

Then came the hush of expectancy. The doors swung open, the curtains parted and the princess entered.

She was supported by the arm of her tall uncle, Caspar of Halfont. Pages carried the train of her dress, a jeweled gown of black. As she advanced to the throne, calm and stately, those assembled bent knee to the fairest woman the eye ever had looked upon.

The calm, brood exterior hid the most unhappy of hearts. The resolute courage with which her spirit had been braced for the occasion was remarkable in more ways than one. Among other inspirations behind the valiant show was the bravery of a guilty conscience. Her composure sustained a shock when she passed Alode at the door. That faithful, heartbroken servant looked at her face with pleading, horror-struck eyes, as much as to say: "Are you going to destroy Graustark for the sake of that murderer? Have pity on us—have pity!"

Before taking her seat on the throne she swept the thrilled assemblage with her wide blue eyes. There were shadows beneath them, and there were wells of tears behind them. As she looked upon the little knot of white faced northern barons her knees trembled and her heart gave a fresh throb of pity. Still the face was resolute. Then she saw Anguish and the suffering Dangloss, then the accusing, merciless eyes of Gabriel. At sight of him she started violently, and an icy fear crept into her soul. Instinctively she searched the gorgeous company for the captain of the guard. Her stanchest ally was not there. Was she to hear the condemning words alone? Would the people do as Quinnox had prophesied, or would they believe Gabriel and curse her?

She sank into the great chair and sat with staring, helpless eyes, deserted and feeble.

At last the whirling brain ended its flight and settled down to the issue first at hand—the transaction with Bolazoz. Summoning all her self control, she said:

"You are come, most noble Bolazoz, to draw from us the price of our defeat. We are loyal to our compact, as you are to yours, sire, yet in the presence of my people and in the name of mercy and justice I ask you to grant us respite. You are rich and powerful, we despoiled and struggling beneath a weight we can lift and displace if given a few short years in which to grow and gather strength. At this last hour in the fifteen years of our indebtedness I sue in supplication for the leniency that you can so well accord. It is on the advice of my counsellors that I put away personal pride and national dignity to make this request, trusting to your goodness of heart. If you will not hearken to our petition for a renewal of negotiations, there is but one course open to Graustark. We can and will pay our debt of honor."

Bolazoz stood before her, dark and uncompromising. She saw the futility of her plea.

"I have not forgotten, most noble petitioner, that you are ruler here, not I; therefore I am in no way responsible for the conditions which confront you except that I am an honest creditor come for his honest dues. This is the 20th of November. You have had fifteen years to accumulate enough to meet the requirements of this day. Should I suffer for your faults? There is in the treaty a provision which applies to an emergency of this kind. Your inability to liquidate in gold does not prevent the payment of this honest debt in land, as provided for in the sixth clause of the agreement, 'All that part of Graustark north of a line drawn directly from east to west between the provinces of Ganlook and Doswan, a tract comprising Doswan, Shellotz, Vagaran, Oeswald, Sessal and Gattabaton.' You have two alternatives, your highness. Produce the gold or sign the decree ceding to Axlaphin the lands stipulated in the treaty. I can grant no respite."

"You knew when that treaty was framed that we could raise no such funds in fifteen years," said Halfont, forgetting himself in his indignation. Gaspon and other men present approved his hasty declaration.

"Am I dealing with the Princess of Graustark?" asked Bolazoz roughly.

"You are dealing with the people of Graustark, and among the poorest, I. I will sign the decree. There is nothing to be gained by appealing to you. The papers, Gaspon, quick! I would have this transaction finished speedily," cried the princess, her cheeks flushing and her eyes glowing from the flames of a burning conscience. The groan that went up from the northern nobles cut her like the slash of a knife.

The Kind That Won't Lose Shape

Did you ever notice how quick thin clothing loses its shape? It's because it is not made right. We overcome that fault in our Correct Summer Clothing—we've had it made a new way. The coats have a full shoulder, with hair-cloth stiffening down the front, that keeps them from breaking or losing shape. The pants have cuff bottoms, concealed buttons and felt straps, the cloth is thoroughly shrunk which overcomes bagging at the knee. There's no clothing like it for fit and style in Paducah.
